

NRSHA

NATIONAL RANCH AND
STOCK HORSE ALLIANCE

ALLIANCE PARTICIPATION VERIFICATION

To be eligible to compete in the NRSHA National Championship Show, a rider must show in at least three events hosted by an alliance partner between March 1 and February 28. Qualification is based on the same horse/rider combination in all divisions except Open.

Riders can show with the same alliance partner three times, or any combination of alliance partners three times. If a rider shows with a variety of partners, it will be up to the exhibitor to get this form signed documenting his/her attendance with each partner. The rider must submit this form to an alliance partner by March 15, in order to receive an invitation to the NRSHA National Show. Double entering concurrent stock horse classes (for example, SHTX or OkSHA classes and AQHA VRH classes at a single show) counts as 2 events with 2 separate alliance partners.

Only shows that offer all of the core all-around stock horse classes (cow work and/or cutting, reining, trail and pleasure/ranch riding) count toward NRSHA National Championship Show qualification. Shows that only offer a portion of these classes do not count. For example, a rider showing in AQHA Versatility Ranch Horse competition, they must attend a VRH All-Around show for the event to count toward qualification. Shows offering individual ranch classes but not the All-Around classes are not considered qualifying shows.
